of the Institute for Supply Management—St. Louis, Inc.

President's Message

Summer is close to ending with Labor Day and back to school activities but the ISM - St. Louis 2007-2008 term is just beginning.

Your Board of Directors began the new term in July with a board meeting to set strategic goals to enhance the value received by our members.

We want to make your membership meaningful by providing educational seminars and general meetings, C.P.M. review sessions and provide great networking opportunities to help your professional career. These are our focus areas this year as well as hosting the ISM 93rd International Supply Management Conference in 2008.

October is a busy month. The Board of Directors meets on October 9th to finalize our goals for the upcoming term. Our October General Meeting has a great

CALL TO VOLUNTEERS

The excitement grows as does the planning for this event. Do you want to share in and provide the excitement?!?!?

Volunteer for a day or for whole conference. Volunteering for the ISM International Conference is a wonderful opportunity to attend educational sessions, network with other supply chain professionals, and meet suppliers who want to work with us.

NO CHARGE! That is right – volunteering includes free registration – a cost of approximately $1200. This is a chance for you to attend a conference like this at no charge. Just consider attending without having to fill out and send in a registration form!

Being selected as a volunteer allows you to attend the conference, various activities, meals (on day you work) as well as visiting the Exhibitor Hall. [Volunteering does not include airfare, taxi/transportation, or hotel room]

To register, go to www.ismstlouis.org, and follow the link on the main page. Please note by registering does not guarantee you will be selected to volunteer.

We will try to have as many as possible, but the number of volunteers actually needed, will be determined by a number of factors. Communications regarding the selection process, your status, and other information will be forthcoming in BuyLines, ISM-St. Louis general meetings, as well as direct emails. Thank you, speaker, Marilyn Gettinger who will be speaking on Supply Management. Ms. Gettinger will also be presenting two half day seminars on October 24th on Lean Principles, Lean Thinking, Lean Manufacturing and Project Management. Lastly, we anticipate C.P.M. review sessions to begin sometime in October and completed by mid-December. Classes will also be offered in Spring 2008.

Marty Rutkovitz

We want you to get the most value you possibly can with your membership. We urge you to participate by attending general meetings, education seminars and volunteering. Our general meetings provide networking opportunities and everyone the opportunity to learn about supply management topics from excellent speakers.

We hope to see you at our next General Meeting on October 23, 2007 at Spazio's restaurant.

Best Regards,
Kim Butts, C.P.M.

Episodic Volunteers Needed -

ISM – St. Louis has many members whose main responsibility is in the supply management department. While others may work primarily in supply management but also provide financial, accounting, budgeting and auditing services to their company.

ISM – St. Louis uses both external auditing services and internal auditing services.

We are looking for several members who have the background and desire to perform an internal audit on ISM – St. Louis. The internal audit main objectives are to ascertain the:

- Effectiveness and efficiency of operations
- Reliability of financial reporting
- Compliance with bylaws, policy and other regulations

An internal audit committee will be formed and possibly meet 1 or 2 times for a couple hours to go over our processes, books and other related financial matter.

If interested, please email ismstl@sbcglobal.net or call Kim Butts at (314) 822-5853.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Professional Development

Let me ask you a question, why do you attend the meetings? Is it for Supply Management content, social reasons or a combination of both? If you found yourself answering this question and have ideas to make our meeting more valuable we can use your help getting these meetings together. We need help on the Pro-D committee which plans all aspects of the meeting from where to who says the prayer and who speaks. We have some great speakers coming in the next few months, but need help with the details.

Can you help? Will you help? Contact me, Tony Noe, sipro1971-ism@yahoo.com.

Call for 2008 Shipman Award Nominations

The Institute for Supply Management™ annually honors an outstanding individual in the profession with the J. SHIPMAN GOLD MEDAL AWARD.

Johnson Shipman was a pioneer member of the New York Affiliate of the National Association of Purchasing Agents well known for giving liberally of his time and counsel.

The J. Shipman Gold Medal Award, established 75 years ago to commemorate the contributions of this modest, retiring man known for his vision, intellect and influence on important issues, has been awarded annually to an individual whose persistent efforts have aided the advancement of supply management.

If you wish to nominate someone who has performed distinguished service for the cause and advancement of supply management, an innovator, community leader, mentor and teacher, please contact Judy Waters at ISM after August 1, 2007 at 800/888-6276 or 480/752-6276, extension 3034 or by e-mail at jwaters@ism.ws. C.P.M. Review Classes

The Education Committee of ISM-St. Louis is in the process of recruiting new trainers for upcoming C. P. M. Review classes. A tentative schedule is being worked out so all four training modules will be completed by mid December 2007, with a second set of classes to be offered in the spring of 2008.

In addition to the C.P.M. training courses, our goal is to transition these classes into review courses for the new Certified Professional in Supply Management (CPSM) as training materials and testing becomes finalized in early to mid 2008.

If interested in becoming a trainer for the 2007 /2008 classes, please respond to this email and we will be in contact with you shortly. Any additional questions can be directed to:

Spread the Word —

SHARING THE VALUE OF SUPPLY MANAGEMENT

Supply Management in the News

Throughout the year — those in supply management offer valuable insights to their business community and peers. On occasion, these valuable insights spread even further as supply management professionals are featured in the media.

The ISM Spokesperson Team is comprised of various professionals who are passionate about their fields and who are able to clearly communicate this passion to others.

Following are a few examples of recent media coverage featuring ISM Spokespersons ... and supply management making the news.

“Look for every chance to add one more credential to your résumé whether planning on a job change or not. It just makes sense in today’s competitive world. If your company does not support training or reimburse tuition, then consider making an investment in yourself.”

Carla Lallatin, C.P.M.

Purchasing Magazine - July 14, 2007

“Can you sell your ideas? Can you get people to follow you? Can you manage a project? These are the skills you need to have if you want to get ahead as a manager or to get a raise. These are the skills organizations are looking for these days.”

Paul Erickson, C.P.M.

Purchasing Magazine - July 14, 2007

“It is imperative in today’s manufacturing arena that U.S. companies continually focus on making improvements along their supply chain to remain competitive in the global market.”

James Renaud, C.P.M.

The Advocate (Stamford, CT) - June 17, 2007

“A good change leader understands both the micro and macro picture, fleshes out the concerns and, where appropriate, makes step-wise changes to improve process efficiencies and total costs of ownership.”

Angeline Edsinger
